

2 Criminal Cases on Court Docket

Two criminal cases had the docket of the October term of the Crawford County Circuit Court which will open at the Court House next Tuesday.

Ebdon C. Smith, accused of statutory rape and Jesse Cook who is facing an arson charge, are the two men listed in criminal cases. Prosecuting Attorney Robert F. Moeke will handle the two cases for the people of the State of Michigan. Smith will be defended by Attorney Stanley Beriman. No attorney is listed for Cook.

Seven non-jury civil cases are listed on the docket which includes three divorce actions, three bills to quiet title and one bill of complaint action.

Also listed on the docket are twelve cases in which no progress has been made in a year or more. This list includes ten divorce actions, one bill to quiet title and one foreclosure action.

Smith, whose home is in Maple Forest, stood mute before Judge John Shaffer at the April term of court on the charge and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. Judge Shaffer at that time ordered Smith to the Psychopathic Ward of the Traverse City Hospital for a mental examination. He was adjudged sane by the doctors following the examination. Earlier he had pleaded guilty to the charge before Justice Emil Giegling at his examination on the charge.

Cook who is 46 years old, lives in Grand Rapids. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Justice Emil Giegling on September 9, and set a bond of $2,500. Cook at that time gave a signed statement to the authorities in which he admitted setting fire to the Otis Cook home at 905 Park Street following a personal altercation with Mrs. Otis Cook.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece dress in the new fall brown, which featured a swallow tailed jacket and a double row of buttons. The suit was complemented with green shoes and hat. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

A blue dress trimmed in silver was chosen by Mrs. Hazen Hatfield, the bride's attendant. She wore brown accessories and a corsage of red roses. Hazen Hatfield was best man.

A reception was given by the bride's parents at 604 Park Street, the home of the newly-weds. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and Laurence Williamson and daughter of River Rouge, the bride's grandmother. The Knapp family, which includes, Eldon, Henry, Marie and Arlene, presents a new and different show with singing, playing, musical washboard and saw as well as trick riding, harmony and comedy songs.

The officers of the Grayling PTA pointed out that of the advance ticket sale one-half goes to the local group, while tickets sold at the door bring but 40 per cent to the PTA. Thus officers and spokesmen of the Grayling PTA are urging the local folks to buy now and added that tickets for the performance are available from nearly any member of the Parent-Teacher organization.

They also stated that undivided support of this show was urgently needed to build up the PTA treasury in order that its many worthwhile projects could progress and be carried out to final completion.

Two men were fined $50 each and paid costs of $6.60 each as well as losing their rifle and hunting privileges for this deer season when they pleaded guilty last week before Justice Emil Giegling on a charge of carry a loaded gun in a car in a deer area after dark.

The pair were apprehended by Conservation Officers in the Hanson Game Refuge with a loaded 22 calibre automatic rifle in their car last Monday night.

The guilty men were Robert Lee Parker, 22, of Mt. Morris, and Stewart Hanson, 42, of Houghton Lake.

Veterans Administration Man Here on Friday

A representative of the Saginaw Veterans Administration office will be at the Crawford County Court House from 1 P. M. until 2:30 P. M. on Friday, October 10, and again on Friday, October 24.

Due to the closing of the contact offices at Alpena and Mount Pleasant and a reduction of the force at the Saginaw office, it was necessary to readjust the visitation schedule according to a letter received by County Clerk Leo Lovely from R. H. Calkins, manager of the Saginaw office.

The Saginaw office now has to provide itinerant service to twenty-one counties and according to Calkins hopes to give as complete a coverage as is possible. A schedule of dates for November and subsequent months will be forwarded to Grayling at a later date, it was said.

Rayders Smear Green Wave

The Charlevoix Rayders smeared the Grayling Green Wave all over the field last Friday afternoon at Charlevoix scoring in every quarter and running up a total score of 35 points to the Wave's 6.

Although Coach Willard Cornell said he appreciated the ability of the Rayders, their sheer power, speed and fine coaching, stated that Grayling's performance was a distinct disappointment to him and promised a wholesale shakeup in the forward wall of Grayling unless more aggressiveness is shown in this week's workouts.

He was high in praise of Victor Papendick, a speedy, hard-charging 140 pound guard who played a lot of ball in Charlevoix's backfield. He was the only Grayling lineman that repeatedly smashed through the Rayders' forward defenses although a good, brand of football was also played by Allison, Worden, Richardson and Earl Rasmussen. The blocking and charging was way below the caliber that the Wave showed against Pellston.

Smock, Bob Rasmussen, Parkinson and Chuck Feldhauser performed well in the backfield, however without the support up front they were forced to gain through a mass of Charlevoix players.

The Rayders reached paydirt once in the first quarter, twice in the second and once more through the air in the third and wound up with another in the final period. Grayling got a semblance of an offense started in the last half, scoring on an aerial and rolled up three first downs.

Big Bob Carey kept Grayling throttled throughout the first half with smashing drives off tackle and long booming punts that kept the Wave deep in their own territory all of the while. Shadko stood out in the Rayders' forward wall while Bill and Bob Carey, Martin and Jolliffe really played ball in the Charlevoix backfield. Jolliffe is considered the fastest ball carrier in the north by his own and opposing coaches.

Coach Cornell was profuse in his praise of Charlevoix's sportsman ship and ability but added that a much closer game would have resulted if the Wave had played the type of football which they displayed against Pellston.

This Friday, the Blue and Gold of Grayling will invade Grayling from a win over Boyne City who they took to camp by a 13 to 6 score last week end. Grayling has improved every week so far this season and will be shooting for victory number two.

In other conference games last week end, Harbor Springs trimmed East Jordan 21 to 0, while Pellston got underway for their second consecutive victory, a 14 to 13 duke over Manalocna. Following are the conference standings following last week-end's battles:

Team	Won	Lost
Charlevoix	3	0
Harbor Springs	2	1
Pellston	2	1
Grayling	1	1
Manalocna	1	2
East Jordan	1	2
Gaylord	1	2
Boyne City	0	2

Grayling Trips Fairview For Baseball Playoff Championship

Phil Keway Hurls Five Hit Ball

The Grayling Independents became the playoff champions of the North Central Michigan Baseball League last Sunday afternoon when they defeated Fairview by a 3 to 2 score at Roscommon's McNeil Field.

Phil Keway hurled five hit ball for the victors while his team mates were blasting two Fairview chucks for nine blows. Besides the hurling of Keway, the catching of big Ross Thompson coupled with the sparkling fielding of Kellogg and Bob Hanson and the hitting of Lou Smith, Gildner, Carlson and Kellogg turned the trick for Grayling.

Gusler, Fairview shortstop brought the crowd to its feet several times as his sensational fielding turned sure Grayling hits into just another putout. Keway struck out nine men, while giving up the five hits and issuing six bases on balls. Clyde and Carl Knepp who hurled for Fairview struck out nine together and issued no free bases, however Clyde hit Bob Hanson twice to give him free trips to first.

Lou Smith led the Grayling attack with three hits, while Kellogg, Gildner and Carlson each connected with two safeties. A trophy will be presented to the Grayling team as Champions of the playoffs while Roscommon was crowned champion of the league for the season. A crowd of 250 attended the league banquet at Mio last Saturday night and heard Paul "Dizzy" Trout of the Detroit Tigers as the main speaker and viewed movies of the 1946 World Series and All Star game.

The affair was termed very successful and League President Carl Nass and Secretary Al Cherven were highly complimented on a job well done. Both men have devoted considerable time during the season without compensation.

Grayling started right off by collecting two runs in the initial stanza and added the game winning run in the third frame while Fairview had to be satisfied with goose eggs until the sixth inning when they pushed over their two runs. Grayling was charged with one error during the game while the Fairview nine committed four misplays.

City Manager Granger Resigns Post Here

First War II Dead Arrive Tomorrow

The first shipment of World War II deceased are scheduled to arrive tomorrow in both San Francisco and New York City. A second shipment will dock in each city again on October 26. Appropriate ceremonies will be held in each city in connection with the arrival of these two shipments which will be tributes of honor to all World War II deceased.

Military installations in the United States will pay tribute on these two days by displaying the flag of the United States at half mast. Also all installations equipped with the necessary personnel and material will fire a 21 gun salute at 1 minute intervals commencing at noon on both days.

Although Governor Kim Sigler has issued order for Michigan National Guard installations to follow military procedure on this day, no procedure has been outlined for municipal or citizen participation. It has been suggested by military personnel, however, that it would be appropriate for flags usually flown in the city each day to be brought to half-mast on both October 10 and 26.

Accepts Offer Of Big Rapids City Council

Resignation Effective As Of December 1st

George Granger, City Manager of Grayling for the past twelve years, gave the Grayling City Council his letter of resignation at their regular meeting held on October 1 in which he asked to be relieved of his duties as soon as possible but not later than December 1.

He has accepted a like position with the City of Big Rapids which was offered to him by the City Council of that city several weeks ago. The Grayling City Council who offered Manager Granger the same terms as Big Rapids accepted his resignation with regret.

In his letter to the Grayling Council, Manager Granger stated, "I know that your honorable body is ready to meet the offer of Big Rapids, and I have given the matter my earnest consideration. However, I have come to the conclusion that if I am to advance in my profession and give my family the things of life that they are entitled to, then I must move on to a larger city. This is an opportunity that has been offered to me because of my reputation as your manager in Grayling for the past twelve years. I am very proud of the things that have been accomplished and the people of Grayling should be just as proud of the public works they have acquired."

City Manager Granger asked the Council to make every effort to obtain a man to replace him at least by November 15 as he said he would like to spend two weeks with the new man to help him get acquainted with the job, the city employees and the people of the city. He ended his letter by thanking the Council and the people of Grayling for giving him the chance twelve years ago to become city manager of this city and earn the reputation that gave him the chance to advance in his profession. (Complete letter appears on page 8 of this issue in the Council Proceedings.)

Although George A. Granger was born in Mississippi in March 1907, he is still almost native of Grayling having moved here with his parents in June 1909. He attended Grayling Grade and High Schools and graduated in June, 1924. He entered Michigan State College in 1927 and graduated in 1931 with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering.

He was immediately employed in the Parks Division of the Michigan State Conservation Department and was with the Division until November, 1933, when he took a position with the National Parks Service. He occupied that position until he became City Manager in May, 1936.

During his employment here as City Manager, the City Water Plant was completed. It had been started before he became City Manager. The sewage disposal plant was constructed and finished in November, 1937. During 1939-40, the city light plant was constructed and placed in operation and just the past year had another large diesel engine added to the line. A complete storm sewer installation was completed in the down town area in 1938, a blacktopping program was started that up to this time has added 8 miles of hard surfaced streets in the city. Several miles of sanitary sewer and sidewalks have also been installed under Manager Granger's direction. This year a new fire hall was constructed and an enlarging and modernizing program was carried out in the city offices. A start has already been made on the municipal garage and barring holdup of materials will be finished yet this month, Manager Granger said.

City Manager Granger is a member of the Michelson Memorial Church, the Grayling Masonic Lodge, the Grayling Kiwanis Club, the Grayling School Board, the Crawford County Library Board and the Grayling Boy Scout Committee.

Since the announcement of his resignation, his many friends have wished him a successful future in Big Rapids and have said that he will be sorely missed in the community as will his wife, the former Ruby Stephan, and his two boys, George Jr., and James.

Band Notes

Since band was first begun last fall several people of Grayling have either donated or loaned instruments to the school. Those who have done so are:

Mrs. E. Hanson (xylophone). Earl Burns (cornet and trumpet). Clement Blaine (trumpet). Marius Hanson (trumpet). Veterans of Foreign Wars (complete drum set).

Harold Mac Neven (trombone). School instruments, as a rule are loaned or rented to students who have proven themselves capable of maintaining high standards in all of their work.

This allows worthy students who in some cases might not be able to participate in band to do so.

If anyone has a musical instrument which is not being used the school would greatly appreciate either temporary or permanent use of it.

We have twenty-four students at the present time who are taking instrumental lessons preparatory to entering the band some time in the future. These young musicians-to-be are:

Cornet—Barbara Klein, Derek McEvers, Cora Ann LaGrow, Audrey Walcott, Jacqueline Blackmer, Worden Smith, Tom Hilton and David Owen.

Clarinet—Patricia Bishaw, Phyllis Bennett, Howardine Nye, Sally Bishaw and Mary Larke.

Saxophone—John Stephan. Horn—Phyllis Fairbrotham and Iris Annis.

Trombone—Bradley Stephan and Walter Galvani.

Bass—Roger Kessler, Richard Atkinson and Ernest Nye.

Drums—Donna Blackmer and Barbara Melichar.

Xylophone—Patricia Stephan.

Letters To The Editor

Grayling, Oct. 6, 1947.

Dear Editor: Why does Mr. Hoffmaster of the Conservation Department leave open the Hartwick Pines for deer hunting? Why not close about eight sections along the East Branch and give a few of the little bucks and fawns a chance to grow to be real deer? No one as far as known, has asked for the privilege of hunting in the park. And by the way, this is supposed to be a free country with special favors for no one. So why not let the archers take their chances with the rifle hunters in the regular season. If we want to continue to have deer hunting in Crawford County, write the Conservation Department before they spoil the last sport we have.

Respectfully yours, A Crawford County hunter for 45 years, Peter Madsen.

Russian vs. American System

Despite high prices here, the average American is 10 times better off than the average Russian. A survey just compiled by U. S. Labor Department shows the standard of living of an average American is about 1,000 percent higher than that of the average Russian.

Here is how American buying power of $50 a week compares with that of a Russian making the equivalent of 120 rubles a week.

1. The American can buy 390 loaves of bread while the Russian can buy only 23 loaves.
2. The American can buy 500 pounds of sugar with week's pay while the Russian can buy only 17 pounds.
3. The American average pay is equal to 275 quarts of milk while the Russian is equivalent to only 16 quarts.
4. The average American can buy 82 pounds of beef against the Russian's 10 pounds.
5. The American can buy over 70 pounds of butter while the Russians would be lucky to get 4 pounds.

Since the end of the war, food prices have gone up 86 percent in Russia while wages of its workers have risen only 25 per cent.

These comparisons are made by the U. S. Department of Labor on the basis of Moscow's official food prices.

Homes Need Autumn Check-Up To Correct Fire Hazards

With the start of the heating season bringing added fire danger, Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11, provides householders with an opportunity to give their homes an autumn check-up.

Last year more than 400,000 homes were damaged or destroyed by fire, a majority of them in the fall and winter months, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which issues this advice to cautious householders.

Start your autumn check up in the basement, with the furnace and other heating equipment. Furnaces should be cleaned out once a year, and in the case of oil burners, this should be done by an experienced repairman. Chimneys, flues and smokepipes should be inspected for cracks and holes which will spread fire.

All rubbish accumulated during the summer should be cleared out of the basement, as well as from attics, closets and other places.

Inspect your fuse box. See that only 15 amp fuses are installed, and get a supply of extra fuses to keep on hand.

Inspect the wiring of all electric appliances, particularly those portable heaters you will use this winter. Have all defective wiring repaired or replaced.

Oil and clean the motors of all electric appliances you will use this winter so they won't overheat and start fires. If your refrigerator motor isn't the "sealed-in" type, be sure to oil this, too.

Get out your metal screen for the fireplace and set it in place for your first open fire. Inspect your chimney to see that it is clear of all obstructions.

Equip your home with plenty of ash-trays to keep careless smokers from throwing their ashes on carpets or into wastebaskets.

Inspect your kitchen stove to be sure that it is functioning properly. Have a supply of soda or salt on hand to stop grease fires in broilers or cooking vessels.

and plenty of socks. Do not start out hunting with clothes damp from perspiration.

Take a first aid kit with you and treat seemingly slight injuries such as blisters, bruises, scratches, puncture wounds and burns. Know how to stop bleeding by using pressure on the arterial supply above a serious wound. Know how to reach the nearest doctor.

Hunting clothes were not designed for climbing trees. Climb only when necessary and then climb with care.

Avoid poison ivy and poison sumac. They are still potent.

Cook all wild game until it is thoroughly done before tasting it. Handle every wild rabbit as though it had tularemia. That means wearing rubber gloves while cleaning rabbits and being careful that the gloves are not punctured by sharp bones. The germ causing tularemia is so small it can penetrate unbroken skin.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old

Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time.

And the Doc means it hasn't much to do with age. There are old folks in our town who get a big kick out of seeing other people enjoy themselves—seems to keep them young in spirit, with a twinkle in their eyes!

And there are some others who resent the young folks going fishing; who feel that community games and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends.

They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures—like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing—it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our age is.

FILL YOUR FUEL OIL TANKS NOW AND AVOID DISAPPOINTMENTS

Under present conditions it is impossible to forecast the quantity of fuel oil that will be available this winter... We hope that none of our customers will suffer when cold weather grips this area.

Therefore, we urge our customers to order their fuel oil tanks filled immediately, and then adopt the policy of keeping them filled—not waiting until the tank is low on oil.

Heavy demand caused by severe weather will create such acute shortages that your home may be without adequate fuel oil unless you protect yourself now.

Health NEWS

Lemons in the Diet

Two eastern doctors of medicine have just discovered that persons who drink quantities of lemon juice frequently in their quest of Vitamin C are inviting dental trouble.

The discovery need not cause too much consternation, however, because any medical man can tell you how to get an adequate amount of this important vitamin without using lemon juice for the purpose.

The trouble with the juice is that the acid it contains may attack the enamel of the teeth, the eastern doctors found after studying the cases of 50 persons under their care.

The effect is particularly bad if the juice is taken daily at other than meal times, they added.

In some instances the persons taking the lemon juice were doing so to help them reduce and they were actually replacing entire meals with the fluid.

Others took lemon juice for various ailments, principally rheumatism, although many took it for the prevention and relief of colds and as a tonic.

Home Made Wine Can Be Legal

A penny postcard addressed to the Alcohol Tax Unit telling Uncle Sam that you as the head of a home wish to make wine for your own consumption will set the wheels in motion to give you a green light.

The law in the States of Ohio and Michigan, in conformity with the Federal law, allows the head of a household to make 200 gallons of tax free wine annually for home consumption within the home or household in which it is manufactured, provided the Alcohol Tax Unit is advised of such intentions. This wine cannot enter into commercial channels, be sold or bartered without incurring severe penalties by the Federal and State Governments.

Any head of a household in Michigan and Ohio, who intends to make homemade wine for family use, should notify the Alcohol Tax Unit, 2412 Buhl Building, Detroit 26, Michigan, 10 days or two weeks ahead of the time it is planned to commence making the wine. Forms and instructions will then be provided at no cost.

The raccoon population is high in this district, which includes the following counties: Oscoda, Alcona, Isosco, Crawford, Ogemaw, Roscommon and Missaukee.

He formerly was an assistant coach at Wisconsin.

The Martins Have a Meeting

Johnny looked at her quickly. Surely she must be wrong about this. Kit would never have done such a thing.

"But only after the threat of turning Frank Decker out of the office down at my plant. She finally persuaded him to let things stand until they were married. But I don't think she'd ever have done it. She's not that kind of girl. Kit isn't." She shook her head. "If she only had brains enough to see through that minko-poop-son-of-Henry's!" Although he can't be criticized too severely, seeing what his parents are. She seemed angry with them, but how was this to concern him? He looked at the portrait of his mother above the mantel and she was still smiling at him.

"Pretty, isn't she, John?" his grandmother asked, seeing him looking at the picture.

"Yes, yes... she was very beautiful. I often wondered what she looked like when I was a child."

"How you must have hated me for acting as I did and not allowing you to have one likeness of her," she said slowly.

"No, I don't believe I ever hated you. You were always my grandmother and J. D. always said that you acted as you did because you had loved my mother so greatly."

She looked at him and when she spoke there were tears in her eyes. "Do you suppose you could ever forgive me, John?"

"I have already," was his sincere answer.

"And do you suppose you could call me something besides—Mrs. Martin for the rest of my life?" She was smiling.

"I'm too old to start calling anyone 'Grandmother,' but we could settle on 'Jenny,' couldn't we?" she suggested.

"Jenny!" She breathed the word like a song. "Why, no one's called me that since—since your grandpa courted me back in Pennsylvania days." Her eyes glistened.

Just then the lights of a car shone in the front window and she looked past Johnny toward the hall.

In a few minutes, Henry, his and Basil appeared in the hall. Henry coming quickly into the living room and to his mother. He stopped short, however, when he saw Johnny sitting in the chair opposite her.

"Mother, we came as soon as we got your message. Is there anything wrong?" he asked nervously. "No, Henry, nothing wrong—now." She did not look at him, but kept her eyes straight ahead.

"But, Mother..." He looked at Johnny sitting calmly in the chair. "What's the meaning of this?" he asked.

"You'll see, Henry. You'll see. Gather your little family together now and come back here as soon as you can. There are a few matters we have to discuss." She took in Johnny with her gesture. "All of us—like one big family. Hurry, now." She waved him out of the room with a quick movement of her hand, and winked slyly at Johnny.

Before Henry and his family reappeared in the room. Kit arrived at Martindale. Thomas answered her knock and Johnny and Mrs. Martin heard her voice before she made her appearance.

"Is something wrong, Thomas?" she asked anxiously.

"No, miss, everything's fine," he answered, a broad smile on his face.

"But you said 'Mrs. Martin' wanted to see me right away!"

"She does. She and the young Mr. Davis are waiting in the living room now." He bowed from her presence and she went directly into the front room.

"My dear," Mrs. Martin called to her as she came across to her, "you are just in time. Do sit here close to me." She looked at Johnny and winked again. "You two do know each other, I believe?"

Kit stood looking at Johnny and smiling at him she answered softly, as if to him only. "Yes, we know each other, don't we, Johnny?"

Basil entered the room just then, and ignoring Johnny, he smiled affectionately at his grandmother, and spoke to her, then went to Kit's side. "Kit, darling... I didn't expect to find you here!" he stated in true surprise.

She smiled at Basil, but did not answer him. Henry and his wife entered at that moment, both smiling graciously at Jennifer Martin and then at Kit.

Henry's Frauds Are Exposed

They all seated themselves at Mrs. Martin's request, and drawing herself up to her full height, she stood in the midst of them and started. "As you all know, I have called you here tonight for a purpose. A very good purpose, as you may well imagine." All the time she was speaking she was looking from one to the other of them critically. "For the past twenty-five—twenty-four years, to be exact—I have stayed inside this house and Henry has run my plants for me. I have always thought that I was fortunate to have a son so interested in my affairs that he could step into my place and keep things running so smoothly. I always admired that in spite of the contemptible disposition my son has, he ran the plants in a fair and upright manner. I always thought that until—she glared at Henry, who sat staring at her with his mouth open—"until I find that Frank Decker, who has been with me since my husband started the plants and who was always a great friend of my husband, was turned out of his position and thrown out into the yards because Henry Martin so declared it!" She bit off her words sharply.

Henry moved nervously in his chair and started to get to his feet to explain, but she stopped him.

"No, Henry, it's too late for explanations now. And it might please you to know that yesterday I visited our plants myself and Frank Decker has been appointed foreman of the Number 6 Plant." She rubbed her small hands together as if to finish with the subject of Henry.

She then turned to Henry's wife, Cecilia. "My dear," she began, "I have never voiced my gratitude to you concerning the many years you have shopped for me and arranged this house, for the many duties you took unto yourself to save me the trouble of overseeing."

CHAPTER XVIII

"I always admired your taste," my dear, and although sometimes I thought perhaps the furnishings and the clothing you bought for me a trifle expensive, I always trusted your perfect judgment." She moved a step closer to her and said the next in a low, even voice directed at her daughter-in-law.

"Yesterday I checked with Foreman's on some of the prices I had paid for their merchandise in the last year. Then I checked with Gooding's about our grocery bill each month. I'll not bore you, Cecilia, with the list of them—you know them much better than I. The prices I paid during the last twenty years have been a trifle high—in fact, just about double the price the stores asked for the articles you were so kind to purchase for me. No, Cecilia, I'll never need worry about you being a pauper, for you can retire nicely on the profit you have accumulated through the years."

Henry's wife lowered her eyes. She was wiser than her husband, for where Henry had tried to explain his mistakes, she knew it was best to remain silent and hear the truth as it was spoken.

Next she turned to Basil. But before she had a chance to speak he jumped up and looked at her defiantly.

"And now it's my turn, is it? What have you got cooked up about me? This is the thanks I get for saving your life! I wish I'd let you down!"

She was standing so close to him that when she reached out her hand to slap him she hit him hard on the cheek. He stepped back quickly, his hand flying to his jaw.

"Yes, you wish you'd let me burn. If it had been up to you, my dear grandson, to save my life, I would undoubtedly have burned! But I happen to know the truth of the matter now!"

Basil glared at Johnny, still sitting quietly in his chair. "So you've managed to feed her that? You lied to Kit about saving her life and now she believes it," he accused him flatly.

Thomas, who had been standing in the archway, stepped forward. Jennifer Martin looked at him and smiled. Basil turned and saw him, then knew who had told his grandmother the truth.

"You'd believe him! Why, he's nothing but a—" "A murderer!" Jennifer Martin supplied the word quickly. "But not a guilty murderer—and even if he were, there are some instances when that seems to be the only solution!" She shook her finger at Basil.

This silenced him and he went back to his seat on the couch.

"Now that I have exposed your little frauds, I hope you will be kind enough to leave my house, immediately! If you are not gone by tomorrow noon I shall be forced to call the police. And I think you should know how much I shall appreciate not having to look into your scheming faces every day and wonder if each day you might have the courage to do away with me!"

Basil was the first to leave, but first he turned to Kit.

"It's all clear to me now. Now I can understand why you sent me the message breaking our engagement yesterday. You're going to stay on the side with the money, aren't you, Baby?" he asked sarcastically.

Johnny stood up, and taking him by the coat, pulled Basil to him, then sent him sprawling across the floor. He started to lunge back at Johnny, but thought better of it and walked out of the room. Henry and Cecilia followed him haughtily.

Jennifer Martin turned now to Johnny and smiled at him. "For you, my son, I have a different kind of news. Before your father died I promised him that Martindale Park would be finished immediately, and so it shall. The workmen have been hired and will begin work tomorrow morning. And as for you, your estate will be yours again—but I wish you I'm going to live a long time, now that I've got an interest in things again. It's yours, as well as Martindale, which you must call your home from this day forward!"

Loves Always Finds a Way

She turned and looked over her shoulder at Linda's portrait. She spoke softly to it and there were tears in her eyes.

"Where, my girl... how do you do that?"

When Martin looked at the two young people in the room with her and smiled at them tenderly.

"Well, John, I once thought I'd have Kit for a granddaughter, but I'm glad she saw through Basil in time to change all that. However, I'd still like the relationship to go through as planned with a few variations. Perhaps you could help me out. Do you think so?" she smiled at him slyly.

Letter follows:
Grayling, Mich., October 1, 1947.

The City Council, Grayling, Michigan. Gentlemen:

As you know, for the past several weeks I have been considering the position of City Manager at Big Rapids, Michigan. This position was offered to me by the City Council of that city about four weeks ago and since that time

I have been trying to make up my mind whether to accept or stay in Grayling.

I know that your honorable body is ready to meet the offer of Big Rapids, and I have given the matter my very earnest consideration. However, I have come to the conclusion that if I am to advance in my profession and give my family the things of life that they are entitled to, then I must move on to a large city.

This is an opportunity that has been offered to me because of my reputation as your manager in Grayling for the past twelve years. I am very proud of the things that have been accomplished and the people of Grayling should be just as proud of the public works they have acquired.

Grayling has been my home ever since I was three years old and I regret very much leaving my home and my friends and neighbors. However, as said above this is an opportunity that I cannot turn down.

I want this Council to know and all the people of Grayling to know that I have enjoyed working as your manager and that I sincerely hope that whoever your new manager might be, he will receive the wholehearted co-operation of your body and the citizens of Grayling as I have.

Please accept this as my resignation as City Manager of Grayling to take effect as soon as possible, but not later than December 1, 1947.

I sincerely hope that you will make every effort to obtain a man to take my place not later than November 15, 1947, so that I might spend at least two weeks with him to get him acquainted with the people and his job.

I want to take this opportunity to thank you and the people of Grayling, who twelve years ago so willingly gave me the chance to serve as your manager and earn the reputation that has given me the chance to advance in my profession as I am about to do.

Respectfully submitted,
George A. Granger, City Manager.

Moved and supported that meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.
George A. Granger, City Clerk.

CONGRATULATIONS

to the Officers and Owners of the

Grayling State Savings Bank on Their Fine New Home

President Walter Truettner and his associates deserve great credit for their enterprise.

This bank was founded about 15 years ago and, with little or no experience in the banking business, made a phenomenal success, much credit for which is due to efforts of Esbern Hanson, president, the indefatigable efforts of Manager John Bruun and the splendid ability of Margaret Nielsen as cashier, and the Board of Directors.

This all adds up to the result of Grayling having one of the finest financial institutions in Michigan. Best wishes.
